

TREATY

BETWEEN ENGLAND AND THE JAPANESE

IN LINE WITH UNITED STATES POLICY.

"OPEN DOOR" IN MANCHURIA

Is Recognized in this New Treaty—An Ultimatum to the Russian to Evacuate.

Berlin, Feb. 13.—Your correspondent learns semi-officially today that Germany and the United States were informed of the Anglo-Japanese negotiations and were invited to join in them. Germany refused in order to keep free hands. Your correspondent further learns from reliable sources that the East Asian trip of Sir John Hay, the British ambassador to the United States, is not to be resuscitated.

Washington, Feb. 13.—Mr. Takahira, the Japanese Minister to Washington, called at the State Department and notified Secretary Hay of the signature of the treaty between Great Britain and Japan, made public yesterday, binding the two nations to join in action to maintain the integrity of China and Korea. The assent of the United States is not necessary to this agreement, but if it were it probably would not be withheld, for it is pointed out that the treaty is precisely in line with the aims of the State Department, as fully disclosed in the notes published by it from time to time.

It is made very clear here by the official statements that the purposes of the United States all relate to commercial and industrial phases of the Manchurian question. With the political phase we have little concern. The sovereignty of Russia or China over Manchuria would be to us an immaterial issue so long as American ships are free to sail into Manchurian ports on even terms with Russian ships; so long as American products may be entered in Manchuria at the same tariff rates as Russia, and so long as American railroad and mining projects may operate in Manchuria as freely as those of any other nation. In other words, the United States is contending for the "open door" in Manchuria, and it recognizes in this new treaty a valuable support in its contention.

New York, Feb. 13.—A Washington dispatch to the Herald says: The Anglo-Japanese treaty is looked upon in official circles here as in itself an ultimatum to Russia to evacuate Manchuria. The convention between Russia and China for the gradual evacuation of Northern China, was to have been signed two weeks hence. In view of the alliance of Great Britain and Japan, China may now refuse to sign the convention.

Such refusal, it is stated on high authority, will be followed by the retention of Russian troops in Manchuria. But if this be done, then Great Britain and Japan must act under the treaty signed by them to expel Russia. Certainly Russia will resist expulsion, and France, whose interests necessitate her acting with her ally, will be drawn into the conflict.

Germany is a factor in the Manchurian question, and her attitude with respect to the treaty is of the utmost importance. That she will not adhere to the treaty is at once apparent. Her relations with Great Britain would not permit such action. Besides Germany's interests in Shantung are identical with those of Russia in Manchuria. It is possible therefore, that in case of trouble she would line up with Russia and France as against Great Britain and Japan.

WILL GET WELL

Barring the Unexpected—President's Son Shows Improvement Passing Crisis of the Disease.

Boston, Mass., Feb. 13.—The final crisis in the illness of Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., has been met and passed. Barring the unexpected, he will live. The disease has been checked in the right lung. The left lung was almost completely cleared during the night. The boy slept well all night and Secretary Cortelyou said at 11 o'clock today that the patient continued to do nicely. The President will leave some time late this afternoon.

At 1 o'clock this afternoon Secretary Cortelyou announced that the party would leave in their private car at 4:40 this afternoon. Miss Alice Roosevelt has left the White House and will arrive in Groton tomorrow.

A Big Deal.

Salt Lake, Utah, Feb. 13.—The Steel Trust has consummated the purchase of a large tract of coal and iron lands in Iron county, southern Utah, from different holders for sum of $2,000,000. The syndicate is negotiating with Senator Clark for a branch of the San Pedro railroad and proposes to erect a steel plant and build a town near Iron Springs.

GAS

INTERESTS PEOPLE UP ABOUT UTICA.

DEVELOPMENT OF THE NEW GAS TERRITORY.

UTICA COMPANY GETS LEASES

Preparatory to Going After the Hidden Fuel—Much Territory Secured. Seventeen Producing Wells.

Utica, O., Feb. 13.—It is generally believed that the Melick gas well is a better one than the owners would like to have known to rivals for leases. Pretty fair authorities place it on a par with the Stinson well, which is good for about two and a half million feet a day. It was turned into the main line so quickly that not much of a chance was given for observation from outside parties. Everybody in this section of the country is "talking gas" and there is believed to be a bright outlook for the Licking county gas field.

The Melick well is two and a half miles northwest of Utica and two miles northeast of Homer. The only well in the field that is better than these is the Fry well which is five miles southwest of Utica and three and three-quarters miles from Homer.

The Utica Herald observes: It will be noticed that, excepting Fry's, of the 17 wells in the Homer field the two farthest east, or nearest Utica. This seems to prove that the east boundary of the pool has not yet been found, and that Utica may be in the very richest spot of it. As piping costs $1500 a mile, even for three inch, the Utica company can better afford to experiment right here than any company that has pipes into the Homer field. A well at Tiffin would be worth to us $3,000 cash more than one two miles out.

Seventeen wells have so far been sunk within six miles of Utica, and not a single one is a dry hole. Nearly every farm in McKean and Burlington townships, and Washington township clear to the Utica line, in Licking county, and several townships over the line in Knox county is under lease, the price ranging from 50 cents to $2 or more an acre per year.

Jeff O'Connor is said to have received $7 an acre, but as two wells are to go down there at once, the lease payments will be made but once.

The Utica company on Monday leased about 500 acres east of the village, probable oil territory. It includes the Bricker farms. The Utica company gets its leases for $1 each, with $200 and free gas to follow where a well comes in.

SCORE

HURT IN A BAD WRECK ON THE ERIE.

SPREADING RAILS RESPONSIBLE FOR THE MISHAP.

VESTIBULED TRAIN OFF TRACK.

Warren and Youngstown Doctors Called Out to Attend the Injured. List of Those Hurt.

Youngstown, O., Feb. 13.—All of those injured in the wreck on the Erie yesterday afternoon are doing well except John Thomas of Cleveland, who is in a critical condition. The wreck is now supposed to have been caused by the breaking of a wheel on the next to the last car. The speed indicator in President Ramsey's private car showed that they were running 60 miles per hour when the accident occurred.

Cleveland, O., Feb. 13.—Train No. 10 on the Erie road was wrecked between Mahoning and Phalanx, O., 49 miles from Cleveland yesterday afternoon. The whole train left the track and ran on for twenty car lengths finally toppling over in a ditch. Twenty-one persons were injured. The train consisted of a buffet car, two sleepers, chair car, coach, baggage and express.

Physicians were called from Warren and Youngstown and left at once for Leavittsburg, where some of the injured had been taken. Some of the more seriously injured were taken to Youngstown. The wrecked train is one of the finest on the Erie road and is vestibuled.

The engineer of the train was Matthew Shay, of Youngstown. George Hopper of Cleveland, was conductor. They were not hurt. George Thomas of Cleveland, received what is feared to be fatal injuries, brain concussion. The others injured are:

Charles Shull, Youngstown, side injured.

Robert Blickensderfer, general manager Wabash railroad, St. Louis, mouth cut and body bruised.

U. S. Cartwright, Baltimore, back and head bruised.

G. H. Van Armour, Coldwater, Mich., scalp cut.

Mrs. Fred Kueh, New Castle, Pa., Joseph Haigian, Gerard, Pa., arm and shoulder bruised.

Mrs. Frank Peck and two children, Warren, O., all received bruises on the body.

Frank Finnegan, Cleveland, head hurt.

Max Tarshish, New York, arm injured.

Cora Ames, Cleveland, scalp cut and body bruised.

Wm. Vaughn, clerk on President Ramsey's car, St. Louis artery in leg severed.

Mrs. Mary Best, Cleveland, back and shoulders injured.

George T. Young.

Mrs. James Lamb, Warren, O., back and chest hurt.

George E. Eckert, Meadville, Pa.

E. J. Bassinger, Cleveland, left leg injured.

C. S. Rusling, Philadelphia, arm and side hurt.

Mrs. C. G. Hart, Adrian, Mich., arm injured.

J. T. Blair, Greenville, Pa.

James White, Steubenville, O., right arm broken.

Nilton Steele, porter, body bruised.

J. H. Kirsch, Youngstown, left leg injured and internally injured.

The cause of the wreck is now said to be spreading rails. Most of the injured were in the coach next to the last, that being the private car of Joseph Ramsey (president of the Wabash railroad). Mr. Ramsey had an emergency case with him and he did heroic work in assisting the injured. His car did not topple over, but the car in front did.

MRS. SOFFEL HAS FRIENDS.

Pittsburg, Feb. 13.—Mrs. Soffel continues to improve. Two friends of her childhood, Charles Amman and wife, have offered her a home as soon as she is freed by the court or serves a prison sentence. Mrs. Soffel today refused an offer from Wheeling to go on the stage.

BUTLER

Stole $3000 Worth of Property from Helen Gould's Home—Confessed His Guilt.

New York, Feb. 13.—Daniel Donovan, 32 years old, a butler employed in the Fifth avenue home of Miss Helen Gould was arrested today charged with larceny of $3000 worth of property from the Gould home. The police were notified and the goods found in a pawn shop led to the butler's arrest. He confessed his guilt and now is awaiting trial. He stole the jewelry and a Persian rug.

University Levy.

Columbus, O., Feb. 13.—By a unanimous vote the Hamilton county delegation decided Wednesday evening to oppose the Painter bill, doubling the levy for the support of the Ohio State University for the next two years.

Under this levy the university would have received almost $100,000 per year and the Cincinnati men resolved to do everything possible to defeat it. It is said the Cuyahoga members will take the same action and the Lucas county delegation will be against the measure. From all appearances the levy will have to be reduced before it will be approved by the House.

CANAL BILL

WILL PROBABLY BE INTRODUCED AT ONCE.

Chief Engineer Perkins Suggests that Licking, Akron and Lewiston Reservoirs be Maintained.

Columbus, O., Feb. 13.—Charles E. Perkins, chief engineer of the state board of public works, has suggested to Attorney General Sheets that he incorporate in his bill for the abandonment of the canals a section providing that the Licking, Akron and Lewiston reservoirs be maintained for water supply and power purposes. Many manufacturing plants now derive their power from the Akron and Lewiston reservoirs and, in a number of cases, the reservoirs provide the water supplies for municipalities, which pay the state ridiculously small fees. It is Mr. Perkins' belief that the state will find it more profitable to continue to lease water rights in the reservoirs at better rates, than to drain them and lease the state land now covered by their waters.

The question of the state's right to disregard leases made years ago also must be considered. Mr. Perkins left with the attorney general a number of these leases, and they will be carefully examined. Judge Sheets said on Wednesday evening that he believed the existence of these old contracts will not hamper the state if his bill is made a law. The supreme court in several cases has held that contracts for privileges in connection with the public works do not bind the state to maintain such works.

Mr. Perkins said yesterday that the force of men employed by the canal commission has been reduced to the minimum and that the state auditor's ruling that those who remain may be paid from money in the treasury to the credit of the Miami and Erie canal, will probably suffice to pay all employees until April 15.

The attorney general and Mr. Painter of Wood, held a conference this morning and it is probable that the bill for canal abandonment will be introduced at once.

WEAK.

From Exposure Stranger Fell Into the Snow and Froze to Death—Had Applied for Work.

Cleveland, O., Feb. 13.—Starving and declaring that he had no place to stay at night, and begging for work, an unknown man about 45 years of age has been seen for several days in the vicinity of the middle of Seneca street bridge, which is in course of construction. Weak from exposure and unable to make his condition known Wednesday night, he fell into the foundation of the bridge and was found dead. He had been in the city for some time. He is still unidentified.

SCANDAL

MORE OF IT AT DAYTON HOSPITAL

A RAKE-OFF IN THE PURCHASE OF LAND

AND THE STATE WAS CHEATED

To the Tune of $3,600—Prominent Republican Politician Worked the Deal—Another Investigation.

Columbus, O., Feb. 13.—The scandal involving Superintendent Ratliff and Steward Knowles of the Dayton Hospital for the Insane, is not the only serious matter that will engage the attention of the new Board of Trustees when it meets at that institution next Monday.

The members have been asked to look into a suspicious real estate deal whereby the state was cheated out of nearly $4,000, which went into the pockets, it is asserted, of a leading Republican politician of Montgomery county. This matter was drawn to the attention of Governor Noyes, but he prefers that the Trustees carry on the investigation and take such steps as they may deem proper in the premises.

The transpiring of this charge gives an insight into the refusal of the Governor to reappoint any of the old Board of Trustees. Of course it was not expected that former Lieutenant Governor Lyon could hope for reinstatement in the light of the charges against him of a personal character. It was expected, however, that Frank Whittaker, the Hamilton banker, would surely be retained. It appears the chief executive was all the time aware of this real estate deal, and thought it best that a change should be made on that account.

It was argued that if they had been looking out for the interests of the state the "rake off" would not have taken place. The facts surrounding the affair as far as known in this city are as follows:

Some time ago it was decided to add to the real state about the hospital for farming purposes. This became known, of course, only to the immediate officials of the institution who were aware of the decision to improve and enlarge the farm, and knew exactly what land was desired for this purpose. Right here an explanation is necessary. It is asserted that Superintendent Ratliff has been kept in subjection by a ring of politicians, who were aware of the charges that were filed against him during Governor Bushnell's term, and he was cornered out of this land deal.

The farm that was desired consisted of 40 acres. The leading Republican official who was to be benefited by the play called on the owner and secured an option on it for $6,400. The trustees then came along and decided to purchase this identical farm. The price to them, however, turned out to be $10,000, an increase of $3,600, which was cut up in it is said, between the Republican leader and one of the persons who was on the "inside" of the deal.

Bridegroom's Suicide.

Marion, O., Feb. 13.—Squire John M. Blue of Larue, this county, was found hanging to a bed-post at his home yesterday afternoon, having strangled himself to death. Two weeks ago Blue, who is 73 years old, and Clementia Drake, aged 62 years, were married. No cause for the deed has been found.

KILLED IN A FIGHT.

Fort Worth, Tex., Feb. 13.—In a pistol fight between Solomon Himeson on one side and D. W. and B. Peckham, father and son, on the other, near Adkins, the former was killed. The Peckhams surrendered. The trouble arose over a land transaction. All are prominent farmers.

Miners Injured.

Nahant City, Pa., Feb. 13.—Seven miners were probably fatally injured in an accident in the Boston colliery this morning. A cage loaded with men was drawn over the tippie.

OLD STORY

Masked Men Gagged Watchman, Blaw the Safe, Stole $800 and Then Escaped.

Goshen, Ind., Feb. 13.—Five masked men entered Avilla near here last evening, bound and gagged the night watchman and forced an entrance to the general store of F. Randall, where they blew the safe and secured $800. When last seen they were driving rapidly in the direction of Auburn in a rig they had stolen from a farmer's barn.

Frankfort, Ind., Feb. 13.—This morning burglars attempted to blow the safe in the postoffice at Mulberry, eight miles west of here. Dynamite was used and the outer door was blown off allowing them access to the stamps, about $200 worth being stolen. They were frightened away before securing entrance to the cash box, which contained about $700. No clew.

TESTIFIED AGAINST FATHER.

Mexico, Mo., Feb. 13.—Louise Buff arrived from Troy, Ill., on the trial of her father, Alfred Buff, charged with the murder of his wife, the mother of the witness. She saw him deliberately kill her mother. The girl broke down and had to be taken from the court room.

SAWED

THE JAIL BARS AND SECURED THEIR LIBERTY.

PRISONERS AT MARIETTA, OHIO, AND DETROIT

ESCAPED ON WEDNESDAY NIGHT.

Detroit Burglars Flung the Sheriff's Daughter Out of the Way Making a Daring Escape.

Marietta, Ohio, Feb. 13.—H. Cooper, indicted for killing Jack Robinson in a saloon brawl, escaped from the county jail last night with William Skinner, James Clemenger and Louis Smith, who were being held for lesser felonies. They sawed through cell doors and barred windows, having a full kit of saws and bits. It is supposed the prisoners fled to West Virginia.

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 13.—James Dyer Thomas and George Clark, made a daring escape from jail at Coldwater, Mich. last night, after overpowering Sheriff Sweet and a deputy and to lay still at large. Maud Sweet, the Sheriff's daughter, grappled with one of the escaping jailbirds and yelled for help, but the ungallant burglar flung her to the floor and got away.

Cheered Boers.

London, Feb. 13.—Guld hall presented a brilliant scene at noon today on the occasion of the presentation of the city's casket to Secretary Chamberlain, whose arrival was the signal for an enthusiastic demonstration. While he was passing a man in the crowd shouted, "Hurrah for the Boers!" The crowd gave chase to the cheerer and pursued him two miles, finally losing him in a side street.

PNEUMONIA

Causes Death to Students Who Followed Young Roosevelt's Example—School is Closed.

Pottstown, Pa., Feb. 13.—Graham Baker of Houston, Tex., a student at the Hill school, died of pneumonia yesterday afternoon. This is the second death from pneumonia there within two weeks. Other students are ill of the same disease. Many of the boys have been following Theodore Roosevelt's lead of running about without coats, and some of them, doubtless owe their illness to this indiscretion. The principal today decided to close the institution for two weeks.

Man-field—J. Walter Wilson, a singing evangelist, was married here yesterday to Louise Vreymaler.

SHOT

TILL THEY FELL INTO THE FLAMES.

FITCHED BATTLE WAGED IN THE KENTUCKY MOUNTAINS.

CALL MADE FOR STATE TROOPS.

Climax of Dispute Over Mules—Fort Was Fired, Then the Attack Was Renewed.

Middlesboro, Ky., Feb. 13.—Just before sunset last evening, in a desperate battle between a posse of 50 officers and 150 mountaineers under command of Lee Turner, Deputy Sheriff Charles Cecil and James Jagger, Bell county citizens, were killed, and John Doyle was mortally wounded.

A mass of smoldering ruins is all that remains of Turner's notorious "quarter house" saloon in the mountains. Incensed at the death of Charles Cecil, his officer friends set a match to the saloon and the house was destroyed.

Several of Turner's men lost their lives in the flames. One report has it that three perished in this manner, while another is to the effect that five were burned.

While the flames encompassed the log structure each side kept up a ceaseless fire. Mike Welsh, a bartender for Turner is said to have shot Cecil. He was seen at one of the windows by the townsmen and a dozen shots were fired at him. He fell back in the flames. Four other men belonging to Turner's army are said to have been killed, but many conflicting reports are afloat.

It is feared that many others met death on the side of Thompson's men. Many unknown fellows were mustered in, and it is feared that they may have been killed and are lying along the mountainside. Many of the town combatants returned to Middlesboro at nightfall, and report all quiet at the scene of the battle. The remainder of the men are camped near the ruins of the "quarter house."

About a month ago Deputy Sheriff Ball levied on several mules which belonged to Turner. Turner was in debt to Gills Colson, brother of David G. Colson. Nearly a week ago Turner, with a body guard, at the dead of night went to Virginia, where Colson had taken the mules, and regained the animals. As they were fleeing they were fired upon by the Hoskins boys, who are employed by Colson, and Boone McCrory, one of Turner's staunchest aids, was mortally wounded.

Yesterday Sheriff Thompson swore in a posse of 50 Middlesboro citizens for the purpose of arresting Turner and some of his men, who were in the Virginia raid. Turner learned of the move and filled his barricade with mountaineers.

The L. & N. train which passes Turner's saloon, refused to convey the posse to the "quarter house" and the men rode through. Turner's "quarter house" where fifty-three men have been killed and over 100 wounded in the past ten years, was about three miles from Middlesboro. The saloon which Turner owned was built of huge logs and loopholes were cut through the cracks. A roundhouse, with a thick plank barricade 40 feet high was another fortress. It was plated with steel on the inside, and was also fixed so that people on the inside could shoot at the enemies without. Turner never let any one in his fort except friends and those who came to purchase whisky. A house in the corner of his yard was filled with arms and ammunition. The Middlesboro posse, armed with rifles, arrived at Turner's place shortly after four o'clock. Ten men were sent forward to demand Turner's surrender. He sent his refusal in vile language and as soon as the gates closed behind the envoys of the officers the shooting began. Cecil and Jagger were among those who went forward to demand Turner's surrender.

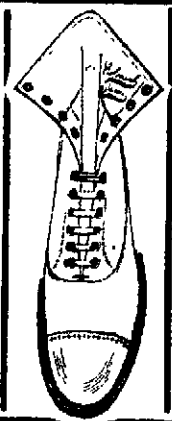

Cecil was killed a few feet from the gate. Jagger was wounded and crawled down into a hollow, where he died. As soon as Cecil and Jagger were killed officers began firing into the fort. (Continued on page 3.)

AMUSEMENTS.

Raymond, the great magician, assisted by Madame Raymond, and their clever company that opens a three nights' engagement at the Auditorium beginning tonight, are said to be one of the best shows of this kind now before the public and are creating a big sensation everywhere they appear. Prof. Raymond will make a blindfold drive on Thursday starting from the Auditorium about noon. Don't fail to see this wonderful feat. Ladies' tickets can be had for opening performance.

The Wrong Mr. Wright.

All the hilarity and jovial ceremonies which attend the presentation here of anything from the pen of that clever and most popular playwright, Mr. George H. Broadhurst will come into evidence on February 17, at the Auditorium when "The Wrong Mr. Wright," his most successful and funniest work will be the attraction. "The Wrong Mr. Wright" is said to be constructed on the broadly humorous lines of his other plays. "What Happened to Jones" and "Why Smith Left Home." Mr. John Allison and a clever company of farceurs give this piece with a few diverting specialties which in no way detract from its original lines or situations in which the run arising from a defaulting cashier and the pursuing millionaire assuming the name of "Wright," and a female detective employed by him, not known to the millionaire, who falls in love with her and is finally arrested on suspicion of being the cashier. The cast presenting this comedy success numbers about eighteen people and is claimed to be the best and strongest organization that has been seen in a Broadhurst comedy. It is headed by John Allison who will be seen in the part of the millionaire, Seymour Sites. He will be ably assisted by Veta Henderson, Maud Allison, Florence Marion, Newton Drew, Harry Davidson and Sydney Reynolds.

Two Little Vagrants.

Edward C. White's superb production of the great French scenic drama "Two Little Vagrants," will be seen at the Auditorium, on Tuesday, Feb. 18th. The story is filled with strong situations. In the first act the dramatic incidents of the jealous rage of the husband and the fury of the injured mother robbed of her child, are full of intensity. Through the two succeeding acts the experiences of the two children, Fan-Fan and Claude, serve to stir the emotions. The realistic features of the play are enhanced by the admirable scenic effects. The company contains many of the old favorites of former seasons, including Neva Harrison, therefore the patrons of the Auditorium will in all probability witness one of the best rounded and most deservedly popular productions yet offered.

Texas are again urging that the battlefield of San Jacinto be made a State park. The State bought the land some time ago, but little has yet been done to improve and beautify it for park purposes, and the neighboring farmers pasture their cows there.

The ceremony was performed in the presence of a number of the relatives and friends of the couple, by Rev. L. S. Boyce, after which a bountiful wedding supper was served to the guests.

After a short honeymoon spent in the east, Mr. and Mrs. Harner will be at home at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Orr. The couple received a large number of handsome and valuable presents.

FOURTH REGIMENT.

The annual banquet of the officers and ex-officers of the 14th-4th Regiment will be held on the evening of Feb. 22, at 8 o'clock at the Park Hotel, Columbus. A TUNNEL EPISODE

(Original.)

Taking a train recently on the Erie railroad for New York, I entered a drawing room car and was assigned to seat No. 5. Seat No. 4 was occupied by an eminently respectable gentleman with a gray mustache and No. 3 by a rosybud of a girl, whom I judged was his daughter. She had the prettiest pair of blue eyes in the world, above which tumbled in artistic waves a mass of fluffy light hair. The vermilion of her lips was contrasted by a little black patch the size of a silver five cent piece placed directly under a corner of her mouth. It seemed to be insecurely fastened, for I noticed that she occasionally pressed her handkerchief to it in order to make it stick.

The father soon settled to his newspaper, while the daughter seemed disposed to settle to anything. She was continually casting glances through the car, as if looking for some one, and whenever the train stopped came in a quick glance at every one who came in. When the train moved on, she would fan herself restlessly till we made the next stop.

Presently at one of the stops a young man carrying a suit case got aboard and glanced through the car, and I saw his eyes meet those of the young girl. Though there was not the slightest sign of recognition, I knew at once that they had met before. Seat No. 1, next the lady, was vacant, and in a few minutes the porter had assigned it to the young man. The girl swung round so that her back was to him and addressed some words to her father, pointing out of the window, but I noticed that her breath was coming quick and her face had lost some of its color.

The young man soon turned his back to all of us, took a novel from his suit case and began to read, but from the number of times he turned I judged that his attention was not fixed upon the book. His seat, the end one, was next a mirror, and it was not long before the girl, though his back was toward her, was exchanging glances with him.

A few miles from the terminus of the road at Jersey City is a long tunnel. Just before the train entered this tunnel the porter attempted to light the gas in the center of the car, but had only one match, which was extinguished before he succeeded. Plunging under ground, we plunged also into total darkness.

When we shot out into the light, the young couple were sitting back to back, but horror of horrors, the patch on the face of the girl had been transferred to the mustache of the young man. This I could see by the mirror. I have been in that sort of danger myself and have a fellow feeling for any one similarly placed. The father was looking out of the window; the girl, unconscious of the transfer of her patch, was sitting with her face toward him; the young man's face was exposed to any one who chose to look into the mirror. How could I communicate with the young man unobserved? I stared at his reflection, hoping to catch his eye, but he was so absorbed in the remembrance of the kiss he had stolen that his eye was not to be caught. Meanwhile the father faced his daughter and began to gather up their belongings, his face being directly toward the mirror. Tapping him on the shoulder, I asked him by what means I had best reach the Grand Central depot in New York. While he was telling me I was trying to catch the eye of the young man. This talking to the father and gesticulating at the young man at the same time were more difficult than grinding an organ and dancing a monkey. Nevertheless I kept it up while the train was rapidly nearing the station.

Presently the young man arose to take his suit case from the rack above and saw by my expression that something had happened. I pointed to my upper lip and glanced at him. He stood looking at me stupidly for a time, then put his hand to his face, and when he withdrew it the patch came also. At the moment the young lady noticed that something was wrong and, glancing from me to her lover, saw him looking at her patch on his hand.

Oh, the crimson of roses, the carnation of pink, the scarlet of poppies! None of these was ever so beautiful as the flush that came upon the cheek of this pretty girl. No patch was needed to make a contrast. It flamed against the ivory of her face, a banner of love unfurled to the gaze of all who chose to look.

The young man rose to the occasion. Rushing up to me, he grasped my hand. "Why, John! Where did you spring from? Why didn't you let me know you were on the train? Where do you stop in the city?"

Between my replies I managed to slip my card into his hand, and he hurried away after the father and daughter, who were by this time leaving the car.

One morning, soon after, I received an invitation to dine with Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Chancy. I had forgotten the car episode and went to the dinner not knowing who were to be my hosts. When Mrs. Chancy received me in the drawing room, I recognized at once the girl of the black patch, and her husband proved to be the young man who had kissed her in the tunnel. It turned out that the man I had taken for the father was her guardian and was scheming to marry her. His plans were frustrated by the couple, who managed to elude him in a crowd before crossing the Hudson. But for my warning their plot would have been discovered and frustrated.

The couple have since become my intimate friends.

EXHIBITION

Given by Prof. Raymond, Who Will Appear at the Auditorium Beginning Tonight.

Professor Maurice Raymond, the mind reader and magician, who will appear for the next three nights at the Auditorium, gave a remarkable exhibition of his occult power this morning between 11:30 and 12 o'clock.

Earlier a committee, consisting of Sheriff W. H. Anderson, Dr. W. H. Knauss, J. A. Chilcote and W. H. Chilcote, in a two seater carriage were driven from the Auditorium in a roundabout way to Hall's drug store, where they hid a scarf pin, sticking it in the back of a lithograph in the east window of the drug store. They were then driven to the Auditorium where the professor awaited them, thoroughly blindfolded.

Two newspaper men got in the carriage and the blindfolded professor was helped to the seat box. A copper wire about his head extended back to Messrs. Chilcote and Chilcote, who had hidden the pin, and this they grasped with their bare right hands.

The professor gathered up the reins and started the strange horses, almost on a gallop.

Straight and true he drove the horses west on the North Side to Third, north on Third to just above Church, where he turned, then south to Main, west on Main, west of Fourth, where he turned again, east on Main to Third, around the South Side of the Square to Hall's drug store, where he got down, and led the way to where the pin was sticking.

The route was exactly that traveled earlier by the hiding committee.

The professor received the congratulations of the committee, newspaper men, and all others who witnessed the remarkable feat.

ADVOCATE

Has Been a Regular Visitor in Layton Home for Over Three Quarters of a Century.

Squire F. M. Layton, of Jackson-town, was in the city Wednesday, and while here paid the Advocate office a pleasant visit. Mr. Layton, though 50 years of age, is splendidly preserved and looks to be a man of not more than 65. He came with his father, Richard Layton, from Virginia, in 1827 and located in Bowling Green town ship. The lad's father at once subscribed for the Advocate, and when Mr. Layton died forty years ago, his son continued the subscription to the paper, so that the Advocate has been in the Layton home for more than 75 years.

Mr. Layton first visited Newark when he was a child five years old. At that time Newark was a hamlet of far less importance than Brownsville, and in those early days it consisted of but a handful of little homes. Mr. Layton has lived to see Newark grow from an insignificant village to a thriving city of more than 30,000 people, and as his health is so remarkably good he will no doubt see Newark reach the 30,000 mark, which she is rapidly approaching.

AN UNEQUALLED RECORD.

There is a Rapidly Increasing Volume of Newark Evidence Rolling up for the Great Medicine, Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills.

It would seem that hardly anyone can take Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills without receiving marked benefit. The wonderful action of this medicine in putting people on their feet who are in a weak run down condition is the talk of every place they are known. It is only a short time since they first came to Newark yet today they are more in evidence for merit with Newark people than all other medicines combined.

Mr. J. Harter of No. 182 German st., Newark, O., says: "I was generally run down, felt nervous, slept poorly, back was weak and felt generally below the weight mark. I was told to try Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills and sold at C. T. Bricker's City Drug Store and they certainly suited me. I regained health, strength and energy—sleep well and back all right. I am glad to recommend the Nerve Pills."

Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills are sold at 50 cents a box at dealers or Dr. A. W. Chase Medicine Co., Buffalo, N. Y. See that portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M. D., are on every package. 2458

A Surprise Party.

A grand surprise was given at the home of Mr. Thomas James, near Granville, February 10, 1902. It was planned to surprise the family, which was carried out very successfully. The guests were as follows: Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. Tharp, Mr. and Mrs. Miles Hartsaw, Mrs. Daniel Williams, Mrs. Clark, Mr. and Mrs. John Spellman, Mr. Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. Perrin, Mr. and Mrs. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Woolard, Mr. and Mrs. John Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Lew Edwards, Mr. Marian Hitt, Mr. Thomas Bowen, Mrs. Bowen, Misses Mae Hawke, Effie Watkins, Ida Youst, Mary Jones, Lizzie Williams, Emma Spellman, Maggie Bowen, Jan Williams, Elsie Perrin, Martha Woolard, Minnie Morgan, Messrs. Saunders Jones, Chester Montgomery, Arthur Spellman, Thomas Davis, George Morgan, Albert Williams, Reel Morgan, Ralph Perrin, Roy Perrin, Earnest Perrin, George Johnson, Fred Spellman, Warner Spellman, Johnnie Perrin, William Morgan, Allen Woolard, Mr. Earnest Perrin entertained the crowd with a phonograph. The rest of the evening was spent in social games. A sumptuous supper was served by the ladies at a late hour. The supper consisted of oysters, coffee, cake, which gave the ladies ample credit for their skill in cooking. At a late hour the crowd dispersed and each one could not help acknowledging that he had an excellent time.

ONE WHO WAS THERE.

For Bruises

Omega Oil

It would hardly be truthful to say Omega Oil cures Bruises and Sprains and Strains. Nature herself does most of the curing, but the Oil stops the pain while the bruised place is being cured. The pain is what annoys you, and Omega Oil must be given the credit for fixing you up so you will not suffer. Omega Oil soothes, softens and comforts any pain you apply it to. If the pain is not too great, the Oil is to be well rubbed in. This sets up a good circulation of the blood, and the result is always beneficial. Besides rubbing Omega Oil into the pores, some of the Oil should be bound around the ailing part.

Omega Oil is good for everything a liniment ought to be good for.

NEW SWINDLES

HOW THE UNWARY ARE BEING GATHERED IN.

And the Wise Ones are Reaping a Harvest from Abundance of Suckers.

Many Ohio men are victims of what is believed to be a bold swindle. A few weeks ago an advertisement appeared in the papers throughout the country calling for men to go west for civil service commission. Later those who answered received a reply from the supposed New York branch of the commission to send thirty-five cents to defray expenses. Those who sent the money have heard no more of the affair. The matter has now reached the hands of government authorities and is being investigated.

A new confidence game has been discovered. It has been worked by J. W. Staab on many Ohio churches. Staab, says an Upper Sandusky paper. His plan is to visit cities where revivals are in progress. He becomes converted and dramatically produces a bottle of carbolic acid with which he had intended to commit suicide, but now thank heaven he is saved. A story of deprivation and misfortune always results in a collection for the convert.

Mrs. Derrick's Funeral.

The funeral of the late Magdalene Derrick, widow of the late George W. Derrick, and the mother-in-law of Mr. James A. McGonagle, the well-known undertaker of this city, took place this morning at 9 o'clock from the St. Francis de Sales church, of which the deceased was a life-long and devoted member. The beautiful and impressive funeral services were conducted by the Rev. Father O'Boylan, pastor of the church, who also preached an appropriate and very feeling funeral discourse that was a beautiful tribute to the life and character of the deceased, who was one of Newark's most exemplary Christian women. The members of the Sodality of the Rosary, of which Mrs. Derrick had been a faithful member in her life time, composed of the married ladies of the church, attended the funeral in a body. The interment was made in Mt. Calvary cemetery, according to the usual rites of the church, and there quietly rest at that is mortal of the devoted Christian woman, wife and mother.

Saved her Children's Life.

"In three weeks our chubby little boy was changed by pneumonia almost to a skeleton," writes Mrs. W. Watkins, of Pleasant City, O. "A terrible cough set in, that, in spite of a good doctor's treatment for several weeks, grew worse every day. We then used Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, and our darling was soon sound and well. We are sure that this grand medicine saved his life." Millions know it's the only sure cure for Coughs, Colds and all Lung diseases. Hall's drug store guarantees satisfaction, 50c, $1.00. Trial bottles free.

SPECIMENS

Of Quartz from the St. Louisville "Gold Mine" Pronounced Mica by a Colorado Man.

(Utica Herald.)

Specimens of quartz from the Dixon "gold mine" near St. Louisville were shown by the Herald the other day, to a Colorado man who is familiar with mining matters. After examination with a glass and comparisons with specimens of his own, the gentleman pronounced the yellow particles mica, a small amount of copper in the rock. He says, further, that there is copper ore within two miles of Utica, which he will endeavor to have exploited. He did not name the location, but we learn from other sources that it is in George Sperry's hills on Lake Fork.

As to the Dixon specimens, the editor once saw a small vein of yellow particles in the jewelry quarters of Mr. Shrock in Newark, and was told by Mr. Shrock that they were gold and were from the Dixon farm.

CAN'T EVADE IT.

Positive Proof From Newark Can't be Brushed Lightly Aside.

The reader is forced to acknowledge that convincing proof in his own city is pre-eminently ahead of endorsements from everywhere else in our Republic. Read this:

Mrs. John Goodwin, No. 8 Myers street, says: "My back was so painfully troublesome that I could neither sit, stand, or lie down with any comfort. It was the first time that I had anything wrong with my kidneys and happening to see Doan's Kidney Pills endorsed locally and the description of the trouble so coincided with mine I sent to Crayton's drug store and got a box. After I had been using them a short time, I felt that I was improving. My back finally got well so that before long I was able to be around again."

A WIDOW HATER

Colonel Danvers Waterford, a widower, with no children, lived in one of the handsomest places on Edgewater point with his sister, Mrs. Punter, and her son Mark, the latter being her expectant to the Waterford estates.

There was but one point of disagreement in the Waterford family. The colonel had set his heart on uniting his estates with a former part of it which had gone off into another branch of the family by the marriage of his nephew, Mark Punter, with Lucy Waterford, the colonel's grandniece. Unfortunately Mark had fallen in love with a widow and could not be induced to give her up.

"Only permit my mother to ask her to visit us, uncle," pleaded Mark. "I'm sure you will fall in love with her yourself."

"I'll have nothing to do with her," stormed the colonel. "A widow! They are designing creatures, every one of them. She is trying to get you for my property."

"She is rich in her own right."

"Silence! If you marry her, you may rest assured that not a dollar of mine will ever reach her through you."

So the matter rested. One morning it was announced that the Villiers place, nearly opposite the Waterfords, had been let to Mr. and Mrs. Stryklin. Mrs. Stryklin took possession. Mr. Stryklin, it was understood, had been called to London on important business, but would return in a few weeks. Nobody knew the Stryklins, but as they were rich and Mrs. Stryklin, a dashing woman of twenty-four, gave evidence of superior refinement she was accepted in the Edgewater circle.

Honoreta Stryklin made much of Colonel Waterford, accepting invitations from him to the exclusion of all others. In the chase they always rode together, and when the lady chose to dash ahead the colonel, an ex-cavalry officer of the civil war, was the only person who could invariably catch her. Nothing was thought of Mrs. Stryklin's partiality for the old soldier till it leaked out that Mr. and Mrs. Stryklin were not living together, and rumors were rife that a divorce was pending. Then all Edgewater saw with the clearest of visions that Mrs. Stryklin was aiming to be ready when the divorce was obtained to possess herself of the Waterford millions.

"Uncle," said Mark Punter one day ruefully, "you have opposed my marrying a widow. Do you propose yourself to marry a divorced woman?"

"Marry? Who says I am to marry?" said the colonel, coloring.

"All Edgewater,"

"All Edgewater had better mind its own business."

The colonel went off in a huff, but did not in the least cease his attentions to Mrs. Stryklin. The lady was so charming, so gracious to the lesser lights of Edgewater, so independent in her treatment of the nabobs except Colonel Waterford, that, despite a natural prejudice against her designs, she became more popular every day. The colonel, more and more infatuated, failed to contradict the reports that as soon as a divorce was obtained by Mrs. Stryklin he would marry her. Mrs. Punter protested, Mark protested, but the colonel at last threw off all shame and avowed that Mrs. Stryklin was one of those cases where a woman having made a matrimonial mistake should not be rendered miserable in consequence through a whole lifetime.

One day the colonel after an interview with his inamorata looked decidedly pleased. It was inferred that the courts had decided favorably, and there was now no impediment to a marriage. Then he sent out invitations for a fete champagne, and every one understood that the engagement would be renewed during the festivities. On the evening of the fete the colonel strolled away into the flower garden with Mrs. Stryklin. Seating themselves on a rustic bench, they conversed in low tones.

"Now that there is no impediment I beg of you to name the day," said the colonel.

"What impediment?"

"A husband."

"I have no husband."

"No husband?"

"No. You got all that from these stupid reports that have been flying about. I did not contradict them even to you. I am not divorced. I am a widow."

There was a smothered laugh from behind a hedge near by. Then Mark Punter stood before them.

"A widow, uncle," he said. "She's trying to get your property."

"What does all this mean?" exclaimed the colonel, starting up.

"It means, my dear colonel," said the lady, "that I have conceived a conspiracy to take a good natured revenge upon you for your imputations upon widows. That is all. I am engaged to marry your nephew, and were it not for him I assure you I would be only too delighted to marry you."

"You have deceived me by permitting me to believe false reports."

"I am responsible for the reports, uncle," said Mark.

"I shall cut you off with a shilling, sir."

The colonel fumed, but the widow held him in check till the first anger passed and when he realized how handsomely he had been taken in he was quite delighted with the widow's performance. It was still some time before he gave his consent to his nephew's marriage, and when he did he declared that there was but one widow who would be so bold as enter his family with this scheme. All the rest were deceivers and traitors.

Smoke you want the new way with

KRAUSERS' LIQUID EXTRACT OF SMOKE
A 75c. bottle will smoke an ordinary size batch of hams.

Smoking meats without fire has proved such a decided success that even those who were disposed of a few years ago to make light of the idea are now using Krauser's Liquid Extract of Smoke. The liquid extract does away with the risk and inconvenience attending the old smoke-house process. Meat smoked by the new method has a genuine delicious smoky flavor; it remains moist and in a perfect state of preservation and is not infested with insects. The extract is made by distilling the smoke from hickory and maple wood and is absolutely harmless. The makers, J. Krauser & Bro., of Milton, Pa., will send free to anyone, requesting printed matter about methods of curing and smoking all kinds of meats.

A BRIDE

Files Suit for Divorce Saying Her Husband Imprisoned Her at Wapakoneta, O.

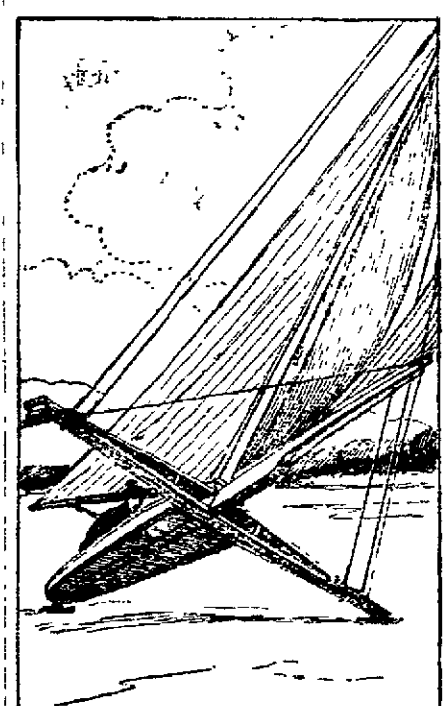

Wapakoneta, O., Feb. 13.—Miss Sarah H. Allen of Cridersville, who married Alfred C. Allen last September, has filed her second petition for divorce on the grounds of extreme cruelty. She states that her husband imprisoned her in her own house and refused to permit her to go out or even to see the neighbors. At the first opportunity she escaped this week, and now asks that her husband be excluded from her house, for alimony and to be restored to her name of Sarah H. Allen by a former husband.

The SPORTING WORLD

Popularity of Iceboating.

The iceboating season is always hailed with delight throughout the country by hundreds of volumes of the superb sport. Owing to an absolute dependence on the temperature for the enjoyment of their favorite pastime iceboaters seldom have an opportunity to fully satisfy their appetites, but this year has proved somewhat of an exception, and reports from various

ICE YACHT GOING UP. TULLS AN HOUR centers of the graceful craft are to the effect that continued cold weather has made possible an unusual amount of good yachting.

All the western cities situated near lakes and rivers of sufficient size have clubs devoted to the interests of iceboating, and its patrons are increasing rapidly. The east is not backward in this line either. In and about New York, Boston and Philadelphia there are to be found some of the fastest boats the country has ever produced, and the annual races for the championship afford recreation unequalled as a stimulant to careworn humanity.

A serviceable iceboat of best quality costs about $250. The average length of the all around craft is about fifty feet, and they bear 1,000 square feet of canvas. They are very frail craft—one cannot help remembering it when going fifty miles an hour over rough ice—and weigh from 500 to 800 pounds.

FOUTZ

THE ZANESVILLE BOY WHO WAS HANGED.

For the Murder of His Filipino Sweetheart, Was Brave to the Last. His Execution.

Later advices have been received from the Philippines, giving an account of the execution of Phineas Foutz, a former member of the Tenth C. V. I. and later of the regulars.

His alleged crime was the murder of a Filipino girl, whom he is said to have stabbed to death with a sword cane.

The letter containing the information follows:

"Cebu, Cebu, P. I., Jan. 3, 1902.

"Well, the worst has happened. I will hasten to give you the full particulars.

"Poor Phin was executed at 6:30 a. m. today. I was an eye witness to the whole affair and the statement I will give you is correct, so you can let all his friends know the worst.

"The scaffold was erected yesterday. Lieutenant Hunt, provost marshal of this city, was detailed to superintend the awful affair.

"Foutz was marched to the scaffold at 6:30 this morning and proceeded in his usual quiet manner. He made a talk that lasted fully three minutes in favor of Private Cuppels, who was killed by the same court that tried Foutz. He was tried for desertion and sentenced to be shot, but President McKinley reduced the sentence to seven years. We did not think him guilty.

"I could not hear all that poor Phin had to say, but he ended by saying, 'I am ready gentlemen.' He then he to Lieutenant Hunt, Sergeant Taylor, Sergeant Brown and the pastor, who is a stranger in this city and whose name I have not been able to learn, but on whom I will call tomorrow at his hotel, good bye.

"I asked permission of Major Hunter, the post commander, to see Phin. He asked what for, and I said, 'Major, I happen to know the boy and we are from the same town and enlisted together at our home in Zanesville, O., and I thought he might want to send some word to his folks.' He said, 'I don't think it best for you to see him.' I broke down and the tears came in the major's eyes as well as mine. Phin made a will, giving everything to his sister, excepting $25, which goes to a lawyer. Phin wrote to his sister last night and a number of others."
